PUBLICATION PROCESSES AND ETHICS

The publication processes start with the Author

Authors are to download and study the Authors' Guidelines, adjust the manuscript to align with the Journal's specifications and requirements and download the copyright agreement form (CAFm), to be filled by the corresponding author, and append signature on behalf of other authors.

Author (Corresponding) should then visit the Journal's submission page to fill author's personal details, upload manuscript, and upload the plagiarism report conducted previously on the paper. (Uploading the plagiarism report is not compulsory), Authors can continue to manuscript submission with or without a plagiarism report.

Once a manuscript is successfully submitted to IJMRASFP (Journal), the editorial conducts two different plagiarism tests for triangulation purposes of which the similarity index must not be more than 15%, check the paper for guidelines adherence, clarity, originality and any conflict of interests. If the manuscript passes the first stage, it will be sent to five (5) reviewers (three from academics and two practitioners) for a rigorous and unbiased double-blind peer review. The Journal adheres strictly to an accelerated and thorough double-blind review policy in which the identities of the 5 reviewers and authors are not revealed to each other. All manuscripts are painstakingly reviewed as soon as possible, and the editorial decision is reached within 1 month of submission (The Journal's review is a fast track review due to our experienced reviewers). The reviewers' recommendations determines the acceptability of a manuscript.

The decision of the journal may be:

- Accepted (Accept)
- Accepted (Accept) (Minor Corrections)
- Resubmit (Major Corrections)
- Rejected (Reject)

If a paper is accepted for publication, authors are to pay the Article Processing Fee within the payment window. The Article Processing Charges cover the manuscript publication, E-certificate for all authors, article abstraction into major databases, support for research communities, advocating for green sustainability and development, dissemination of published article to over 311million+ members (academics, professionals and policy makers) globally, and permanent archive of articles for future retrieval and references.

The editorial will conduct two different plagiarism tests for triangulation purposes of which the similarity index must not be more than 15% after a manuscript has been sent back for minor or major corrections.

Note: The Manuscript ID should be inserted in the “description” at the point of payment.

IJMRAF has made payment easier for authors. Authors can pay the Article Processing Charges in USD (Dollar) [$], Euro [€], Naira [₦] or Pounds Sterling [£]. Authors in other countries where USD, Euro, Naira and Pounds Sterling are not their major currencies are to convert their respective current to the required USD amount as stated on the Journal’s website to pay the appropriate Article Processing Charges.
